

HUNTERS READY FOR FIRST DAY OF GUNNING SEASON

Both Large and Small Game
Become Prey for Those Who Love to Hunt

GAME FAIRLY PLENTIFUL

Entire State Closed to Shooting of Grouse; Forecast Record Kill of Turkeys

Hunters for small game and hunters who prefer so called "large game" tomorrow will have the first real opportunity of 1929 for favorite diversions.

Rabbits, squirrels, turkeys, quail and male ringneck pheasants tomorrow become legal quarry. The season for bear also opens tomorrow; to continue until the last day of deer season, December 15. The deer season, as always, will not begin until December 1.

The close of the season varies for various types of small game but for the next two weeks at least but few sections of the State will not respond to the daily booming of the trusty 12 and 16 gauge shotgun.

It is estimated that at least 80 percent of the 500,000 hunters who take the field tomorrow will be in quest of the lowly "cottontail". Rabbits are the primary objective of most hunters. The farmer boy totting a shotgun for the first time and the "big game hunter" unable to wait for December 1, both like to take at least one day for rabbits.

The rabbit season will remain open until November 30. The daily bag limit is five and that for the season 15. For hares, the same season will prevail but the limits are three and 15.

The season for squirrels of the various kind also will end November 30 with a daily bag limit of six and 20 for the season. The same season will govern the killing of quail or partridges with a daily limit of eight and 25 for the season.

Only 15 calendar days will be allowed for the shooting of male ringneck pheasants. "Two is the daily limit and six that for the season."

The entire state will be closed to the shooting of grouse, said by members of the Game Commission to be decreasing because of the inroads of disease and winged killers from the more northerly latitudes. Hungarian partridges, stocked each year for five years by the Commission, also will be protected in the entire State.

DONT'S FOR HUNTERS

Don't forget your hunting license when you leave home, and be sure it's countersigned.

Don't forget to wear your license tag in the middle of the back on the outer garment while hunting.

Don't hunt on someone else's license. It'll cost you both $20.00.

Don't hunt in crowds, and thereby avoid accidents.

Don't forget to keep your eye on the other fellow. He may not be as careful as you.

Don't take a loaded shotgun into an automobile or other vehicle. Remove the shells first.

Don't climb over a fence with a loaded shotgun. Remove the shells, or "break" the gun first. Don't pull a loaded gun through a fence after you. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Don't shoot promiscuously while in the fields or woods; and never use a live tree as a target. Target practice, unless you have substantial barrier constructed, is a menace to human life.

Don't throw away lighted matches, cigars, or cigarettes.

Don't empty your pipe on a pile of dried leaves.

Don't hunt on posted lands without permission. Respect the farmer's rights.

Don't carry off personal property on land where you are privileged to hunt. Hunters who fill the pockets with apples, turnips, corn and nuts, without permission, do not help the farmer-hunter problem.

Don't forget to secure the license number of the hunter who violates the game laws, destroys personal property, or one who commits larceny of the farmer's crops. Turn this number in to your nearest Game Protector. Be sure to get the county number at the top as well as the license number at the bottom of the tag. If you can't secure either, then if the hunter has an automobile, get his automobile number.

Don't shoot within 150 yards of occupied buildings. It's a violation of the game laws.

Don't enter the Primary or Auxiliary Game Refuges with dog or gun. These sanctuaries belong to the sportsman and are used to propagate large and small game. Land adjacent to the refuges, however, is open to legalized hunters in season.

Don't exceed the bag limits.

Don't forget the season for Wild Turkeys and male Ring-Necked Pheasants begins November 1 and ends November 15.

Don't shoot a female Ring-Necked Pheasant. It'll cost you $25.

Don't forget the season for squirrels, rabbits, and bob-white quail begins November 1 and ends November 30.

Don't forget wood ducks, elder ducks, swans, loons, grebes, and bobolinks or reed-birds are protected.

Don't forget the season on Ruffed Grouse and Hungarian Partridges is closed this year.

Don't forget the hunting and trapping season for raccoons begins November 1 instead of October 1 and ends on January 15. Raccoons may be hunted only between one hour before sunset and one hour after sunrise, except when taken in traps.

Don't shoot a baby bear; they're protected. The bear season opens November 1 and ends December 15.

Don't shoot a doe this year—only bucks with two or more points to the antler are in season. The season is December 1 to December 15.

Don't forget to take some feed for the game along with you and place it in likely places in the woods.

Don't forget the bounty on the Goshawk begins November 1 and ends May 1. Specimens must be forwarded the Commission within 36 hours after killing.

Don't forget that there is a heavy penalty for shooting at, wounding or killing a human being in mistake for any wild creature.

Don't forget that it is unlawful to deface, cover up, or destroy posters or other signs put up by the Commonwealth.

Don't forget that a sportsman is:

One who is always fair and generous.

One who has recourse to nothing illegitimate.

One who is a good loser and a graceful winner.

Speaker Says Prisoners Should Work Every Day

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 30.—At the weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club here last night, Dr. S. P. Ross, noted Philadelphia physician and executive secretary of the American Penal Labor Association, advocated regular working hours for prisoners in this state.

The club went on record as favoring the suggestion and petitioned the state legislators to work toward that end.

"As soon as prisoners are compelled to work eight hours a day the prisons of the United States will become depopulated," declared Dr. Ross. "Conditions in prisons in America today are almost unbelievable and it is due mostly to the fact that they are idle practically all of the time."

Night

ORCHESTRA DELIGHTS

LANGHORNE, Oct. 31.—Forty-five Legionnaires and Legion women, connected with Jesse W. Soby Post, 148, American Legion, and the auxiliary of same, enjoyed a ghost party in the Memorial House, Bellevue and Maple avenues, last evening.

The main room of the house was enhanced with orange and black colored paper streamers, with lighted pumpkin faces and bouquets of chrysanthemums placed in conspicuous places.

Many were garbed as ghosts, and in the grand march the two remaining in the line, unguessed for the longest period, were Miss Isabel Gill and Mrs. Harry Potter, of Hulmeville.

Hallowe'en games were played and dancing was enjoyed. A three-piece orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, doughnuts, candy, salted nuts and fruit were served.

The arrangements for the affair were in charge of Mrs. Howard Ott, of Parkland, and Mrs. Roscoe L. Horner, of Langhorne, members of the auxiliary entertainment committee.

PLANE TALK

By HARRY A. SUTTON
Of the Technical Staff,
The Aviation Corporation
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

PLANE TALK

Two primary forces are involved in the function of an airplane wing: its lift and the force necessary to pull it along fast enough (flying speed) to give it that lift.

By measuring the air's action about various shapes of wing in wind-tunnel tests, science has determined which wing contours are most efficient, i. e., which afford maximum lift with minimum power requirements.

For high speed, a thin wing, with little resistance (drag), has been found best. For load-carrying, the thick wing, with high lift, is preferable. For general use, an efficient combination of the two has been devised.

Here we have a medium-thick wing, its under surface gently concaved (lower camber) and its upper surface convex (upper camber) in a slightly more pronounced arc. Passing over these surfaces, the air not only supports the wings directly from underneath but, because of a partial vacuum created by the upper camber, by suction from above.

This suction on the upper surface of the wing exerts a major part of the air's total lift on both surfaces, varying with different cambers and speeds.

(Tomorrow's article of Plane Talk will explain how the elevator, rudder and aileron work.)

HALLOWE'EN, THAT SPINE-TICKLING SEASON WHEN WITCHES AND HOBGOBLINS GAMBOL, IS HERE; ALL DON MASKS TONIGHT AND GARB IN GROTESQUE COSTUMES

It is to Be A Merry Night of Thrills and Laughter, of Merriment and Spooks, When All Will Enter Into the Fun—Big Parade Will Feature the Celebration, While Many Parties Will Be Staged in Homes and Public Halls.

The Hallowe'en parade scheduled for tonight was postponed until tomorrow evening at a meeting of the committee at noon today.

Hallowe'en, the spine-tickling season, when witches and hobgoblins gambol, is here. It is to be a merry night of thrills and laughter, of merriment and spooks, when all will enter into the fun—big parade will feature the celebration, while many parties will be staged in homes and public halls.

Yes—the season of year is here when it is wise for the staid older folk to exercise precaution against the bands of youthful marauders out to make a night of it.

For that mad, merry night of thrills and laughter, of merriment and spooks, when all enter in the fun, is here—and tonight Bristol, including every single person numbered in the population, will be out for the gala time.

The main festivity, that old-time Hallowe'en parade, which the Robert H. Bracken Post of the American Legion is arranging for, will start at eight o'clock, and hobgoblins each and everyone who does not wish to miss a trick to be on hand at the starting time.

If the weather should be such tonight that the parade cannot be held it will be postponed until tomorrow evening at the same hour.

Judges will review the parade from a stand erected at Mill and Radcliffe streets. H. A. F. 5404. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Frankford Brass Band.

THE HOME TOWNERS

BY JOHN LEARY PELTRET

FROM WARNER BROS. "ALL TALKING" VITAPHONE PICTURE
...BASED ON THE COMEDY BY GEORGE M. COHAN...

SYNOPSIS—Arnold asks Bancroft, his boy pal, to be best man and bring his wife. The pal comes, sees and is suspicious. Starts row. Engagement off as a result. Brother of sweetheart returns present, meets Bancroft and berates him for his small town mind.

CHAPTER X
THE butler comes in and hands Arnold the jewel case enclosing the wedding bracelet. He throws it on the lounge. Mrs. Bancroft has left the room. Bancroft has been holding back his emotion but breaks down and begins to sob. Arnold failing to quiet him, calls Mrs. Bancroft. She abuses and pets him and he tries to get hold of himself and at length manages to pull a smile.

DURING the time Mrs. Bancroft is trying to calm her husband Arnold leaves the room. When Bancroft has pulled himself together a little, he goes over and sits on the lounge. Almost unconsciously, he picks up the jewel case, fumbles with it and the cover opens. Without being noticed Bancroft looks at it a moment, then slips the bracelet in his pocket and puts the case on the lounge.

HEARING that Arnold, apparently, has regained his composure, Arnold comes back into the room. Passing the lounge he notices the jewel case and picks it up. He looks at it a moment and then opens the case to find it empty. Astonished he makes an exclamation which the Bancrofts hear. Asked the cause he holds out the empty case for them to look at.

THE butler is called in and says that the case never left his possession and had not been opened since the time it was handed to him by Wally. Arnold thinks it may be that Beth did not put the bracelet in the case, as a sort of token. Then Bancroft suggests that Arnold call up the Calhoun house and get in touch with Beth and Wally to learn if the bracelet was really sent.

Mrs. Anna Updyke, of Bristol, and is also survived by four sisters: Mrs. Frank Parr, Mrs. Howard Coombs, Mrs. Wilkinson Bracken, of Bristol, and Mrs. William Perry, of Burlington, N. J.

The former Bristol woman, who was born here in 1889, had been in ill health for about four years. For over a week she had been a patient at the Episcopal Hospital, in Philadelphia, where death occurred.

Funeral services have not yet been arranged.

Two Large Properties Here Are Reported Sold

Two real estate transactions are reported here today which are of interest and which involve quite a sum. All of the sales are reported by the Eastburn, Blanche & Hardy agency, of Mill street.

The property known as the Hotel

Closson, Mill and Otter streets, has been sold and the new owner plans to establish therein a first class restaurant and eating place on or about April 1st, after alterations and renovations have been completed.

The new purchaser is Daniel Rufe, Doylestown, Mr. Rufe bought the property from Anthony Marek, Hulmeville. Mr. Rufe is the father-in-law of Jacob Townsend who now operates the Townsend restaurant at Mill street and the Highway. The Townsend restaurant will be moved into the Hotel Closson property as soon as the improvements have been completed.

The rooms of the hotel are to be refurnished and equipped like the rooms of modern hotels. There will be a lounge room on the second floor for the use of the patrons, and the place will be operated under the management of Mr. Rufe and Mr. Townsend.

KONJOLA GIVES FINE RELIEF IN STUBBORN CASE

Man, 72, Pays Tribute to New Medicine — Helped His Brother, Too

MR. HARVEY HARTENSTINE

"When I started taking Konjola for my liver and stomach troubles, I certainly did not expect such quick and complete results," said Mr. Harvey Hartenstine, 72, 118 East Chestnut street, Coatesville, Penna. "I had suffered for years, but at last I found in Konjola the medicine I should have had in the first place. Thank goodness, I finally found what I needed."

"My brother had taken Konjola before I did. He took it for a run-down condition. The very first bottle showed him that he was on the right track. His improvement was rapid, in fact, when he had finished the fourth bottle all of his health problems had been solved. He urged me to take Konjola, and I am glad that I listened to his advice."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

AN EERIE NIGHT

This sophisticated and materialistic world no longer believes in ghosts, good fairies, witches and magic charms but this has not detracted at all from the traditional observance of Hallowe'en, the eve of All Saints' Day and the night on which the shadowy denizens of the spirit world return to earthly haunts.

So this evening when night draws her curtain across the world the unbelieving worldlings will supplant the "real" ghosts, black cats and broomstick witches with a make-believe eerie realm of cut paper, noise makers and pumpkin faces. Hallowe'en parties, street carnivals with masks, costumes and confetti, and prank-playing have universal permission to monopolize the spotlight. And as the witching hour of twelve draws near there will be some unfaithful ones glancing covertly back at their shifting shadows and jumping at every squeak of the chamber stairway. After all, Hallowe'en wouldn't be half so much fun if there was no superstition attached to it and the fact that it is now all superstition of suggestion does not make it any less effective for the purposes of Allhallow night.

In its merrymaking let not the community forget the double significance of this night. Primarily this will be an observance of All Saints' eve, but it is also a harvest celebration. The frosty pumpkin, the rustling corn shock and the bobbing apple play an important part in this nocturnal celebration and inseparably link Hallowe'en with the harvest time.

A wit has pointed out that the good saints have shown rare wisdom by making their annual pilgrimage back to earth in the heart of the harvest season.

COMMON SENSE AND BEAUTY

The beautiful Spanish dancer who credits her enduring beauty to common sense and denies that she has any secret art of preservation can not expect her method to become prevalent among sisters less blessed with puchitude.

She says she uses no rouge when off stage. This is doubtless due to the fact that nature has been kind in endowing her with a complexion that calls for no artificial aid. Those who have roses in their cheeks do not have to paint them there. To do so would show lack of common sense. But it would be difficult to convince the girls whose skins show yellow or overpale in the light of day that a little rouge now and then is not relished by the best of men. If they have no pretty complexion to ruin, they will be inclined to dispute Senorita Trini's implication that use of rouge is at variance with common sense.

The same reasoning applies to the lovely Spaniard's rejection of the curling iron as a help to beautification. Those who have curls can afford to scorn the curler. But not so the straight-haired maiden, when waves and ringlets are in fashion.

Mellowing a little with age, Mussolini has given up several cabinet seats and had a political rival sentenced to only 30 years in prison.

If Mr. Shearer can break up all-night parties in apartment houses as easily as he does naval conferences, he's worth more than $25,000.

always optimistic about the quantity available to the hunters, forecast this year a record kill of wild turkeys. The Commission has made special efforts to stock wild turkeys in sections where they can thrive and reports from the field officers indicate their presence in more than half the counties of the State. In Westmoreland, Fayette and Somerset counties the season will remain closed.

The open season for turkeys also will be until November 15. One to a hunter is the day and season limit. They may be killed only between sunrise and sunset.

Although the bear season opens tomorrow except in a few counties the real hunt for them does not begin until deer season. Based on claims for damages to bees and livestock the Commission reports a large number of bear in all the northern tier counties. Scarcity of food has driven the bear from the inaccessible haunts where they usually are found and reports from many sections of the State show they are staying much closer to human habitation than is customary.

Officers of the Commissions have issued special warnings reminding trappers that the opening of the muskrat season has been advanced one month. Muskrats may be trapped between December 1 and February 28.

The trapping season for mink, opossum, skunk and otter will open tomorrow and close February 28. Raccoon season begins tomorrow and closes January 15.

The season for all wild water fowl which opened October 1 will continue, under Federal regulations, until January 15.

Bankers Invariably Help Deserving to Improve Their Homes

The home owner today who is looking for financial aid when modernizing his home has at his command a varied source of institutions which stand ready to help him in carrying out his plans.

He can go to these financial institutions with a clear cut proposition and he can be assured an interested sympathetic audience.

Modern bankers are interested in home modernization for they know that the movement is not only building up the town, but is placing their depositors' money in a safe investment.

Varied Source of Money

When the home owner is ready to seek money for carrying out his modernizing ideas, he has a varied source of institutions from which he can usually secure the cash to pay the bills.

He may have saved the money and have it standing ready in his savings or checking account. The average man, however, has to borrow the money from some financial institution.

Banks, national and state, building and loan associations, private individuals and some insurance organizations stand ready to lend their money on real estate loans of this character.

Modernization Risk Is Good

These financial organizations are willing to loan money on modernization programs because they know that the risk is good. Money invested in improving property adds to the value of the property. Every dollar invested in modernizing a home adds to the value of the dwelling by just so much. Many home owners who have modernized their home state that for each dollar invested they receive two or three dollars in increased value in the house.

An investigation made by one organization showed that 32% of the number questioned believed that they received nearly two dollars in increased value of the house per dollar invested. 18% of the others stated they had received double their investment. 15% felt that they had received $4.00 and more for every dollar they spent in modernizing.

Financial men know that the value of the house immediately increases when money is spent on modernizing and that the loans are placed where the return is sure. That is why they are receptive toward the home owner who needs money for improvements. They know that there is little or no risk involved.

Amounts Needed Not Large

The amount of money needed for modernization is not excessive. The investigation made by the organization referred to above discovered that most of the improvements were accomplished at an expenditure of $1000 or less. Six out of every ten homes, as a matter of fact. An investigation made by a building and loan organization revealed that the average cost of modernization is $2000. This figure covered over 100,000 homes and is considered accurate.

It will be seen, therefore, that the amount of money needed in modernizing is not great and furthermore, the opportunity to secure this money is now available through a varied list of institutions organized to aid the deserving home owner.

The man who wants to modernize, who has his home clear as far as the title is concerned, and who has a good moral record will find that the financial institutions of the locality will look with interest upon his application for a loan.

TEXTURED WALL COVERING GIVES WASHABLE SURFACE

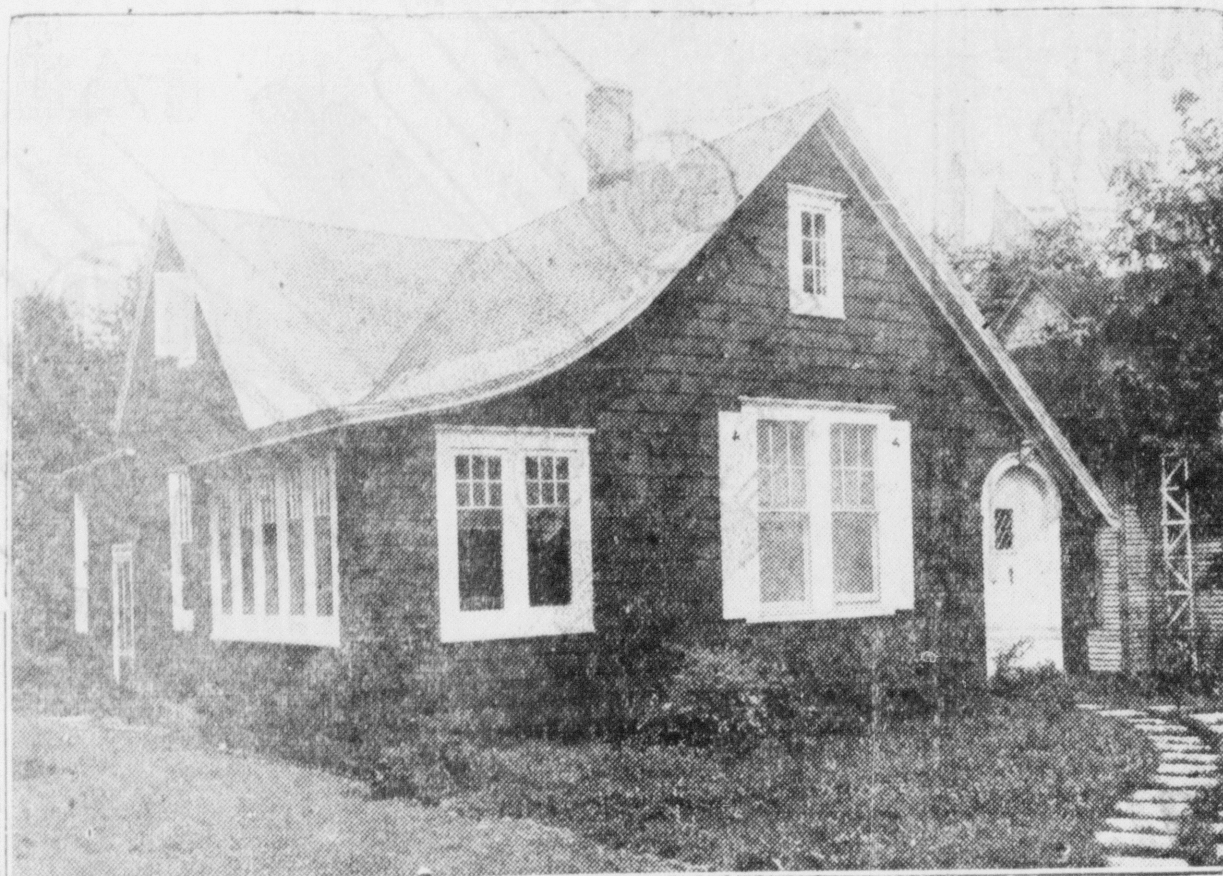

A textured wall covering that is artistic, washable and permanent has recently been developed.

This new interesting addition to the decorative wall material now available to builders is designed in color tones and textures suitable for homes, apartments, schools and other buildings. It comes in rolls like wall paper and may be applied over plaster, wall board or other surfaces to give a washable, non-cracking surface.

Windows and Trim Accentuate Architectural Lines

When the old house was originally designed the architect favored the use of small window openings. Today, however, the window openings are large and a number of sash units are combined to fill the opening. This modernized version keeps these characteristics. The double hung windows are combined to fill the openings, adding considerably to the lighting and ventilation of the interior. The window trim has been painted white to contrast with the siding of the house. The painting of window trim in contrasting colors always brings out the architectural lines and emphasizes the features of the design.

HERE AGAIN MODERNIZATION PROVES ITS CASE

The lovely little cottage above with its shingled sides and white trim was modernized from the weatherbeaten old timer at the left. These illustrations prove that modernization really does all that is claimed for it.

MODERN KITCHEN A CONVENIENT WORKSHOP

Plumbers recommend sinks made of one piece including the back because of their sanitary features. Many housewives when purchasing new kitchen equipment insist that the sink will be high enough to allow them to work without bending their backs when washing the dishes. Many sinks in the older kitchens were entirely too low.

Tinted enamel may now be secured in sinks so that the color scheme may be carried out in this equipment. The cooking stove should be handily located with reference to the sink and work table. Nowadays when color is the vogue, the stove also comes in gay colors such as red and green, thus permitting the decorative ideal to be carried out still further.

Whether the refrigerator should be placed within the kitchen or in an entryway depends on local conditions. It must be handily located to save steps. When ice is used, the refrigerator should be near the door to prevent tracking of dirt into the house. Many city apartments are provided with outdoor icing, the ice being inserted into the box through a door in the outside wall. The iceman does not enter the kitchen at all. The refrigerator is, of course, provided with a door matching the outside door in the wall. Electric lights should be located to give good illumination. Central lights often give shadows and one housewife when modernizing her kitchen avoided this disadvantage by insisting on several wall lights.

TRIM LITTLE COTTAGE RESULT OF MODERNIZING

Even the neighbors were amazed when the builders finished their work on the clean little dwelling shown to the left. They could not realize that it was possible to make such a charming cottage from the old, worn-out house below.

To the casual passerby the modernized version of the old place is an entirely new structure, for it is up-to-date in line and execution.

The shingled sides, the new window sash and trim, the enclosed porch are features of the modernized home.

Exterior Changed

When the subject of remodeling the old house came up it was immediately decided that the old porch must go. Open porches are seldom used now-a-days, and the owners knew that they were getting only a few months' use out of the old porch. By enclosing the porch and making a sun room out of it, they were securing an addition that could be used the year round.

Even during the hot months of the year the sun porch is as comfortable as an open porch, for the windows can be opened wide to let in the cooling breezes. During winter months the room can be heated either by radiator or warm air duct, depending on the type of heating plant in the basement.

When adding the sun room the roof lines were changed to give a full sweeping effect. Now the roof instead of being abruptly chopped off at the cornice sweeps on to cover the sun parlor. The enclosing of the porch necessitated a new entrance and this has been made at the right side of the house. Here the roof was extended sharply down to cover the entrance. The irregularity of the roof lines adds to the picturesque appearance of the dwelling.

Stepping Stones a Unique Touch

The use of stepping stones from the public walk to the new entrance adds a touch of the picturesque to the dwelling. Stepping stones carry out the comfortable intimate feeling and are always artistic and informal. The new entrance with its arched head and plain door, with peephole is attractive.

Batten blinds are placed at each side of the windows at the front to add to the appearance of the trim. Around to the side a casement window with out swinging ventilator has been added to the gable. This casement not only adds an architectural touch to the side, but also aids in ventilating the attic.

CORINTHIANS TOPPLED
FROM HIGH POSITION

CROYDON, Oct. 31.—By the score of two goals to none the Croydon A. C. soccer team defeated the strong Philadelphia Corinthians, Sunday.

This was the first defeat for the Philadelphia team, and as a result of being toppled from first place, the fast-going Croydon eleven is now one point ahead.

The contest was marked by the passing and shooting of the Croydon youths who scored two goals in the first half. Through a penalty kick awarded for the use of hands in the penalty area, Schaffer, easily beat the Corinthian goal-keeper.

After the kick-off Sheppard, Croydon's center half-back, received a pass about mid-field, and with a long, high shot, helped considerably by a high wind, scored the second counter.

After the change of halves, the Philadelphia boys, with the high wind at their backs, pressed steadily on the Croydon goal, but the defense was entirely too strong. The Croydon backs and half-backs continually booted out of danger. Cordingly also made quite a few remarkable saves between the Croydon posts.

Sheppard, Croydon's center-half, played a great defensive game, always on the job, continually breaking up play after play of the Corinthians' forwards, and feeding his own forwards in wonderful style.

Line-up:	position	Corinthians
Cordingly	goal	Merkle
Rigler	right fullback	Masters
Walton	right halfback	Simpson
Sheppard	center halfback	Reeder
Miller	outside right	McGinley
Schaffer	inside right	Toker
F. Rigler	center forward	Goldstein
Hornberger	outside left	Boggs

Score by halves: First Second Total
Croydon 2 0 2
Corinthians 0 0 0

Goals scored by: Schaffer (from a penalty kick); Sheppard.

Time of halves: 45 minutes.
Referee: J. McNab.
Linesmen: Gray and Dreer.
Next Sunday the Croydon A. C. will play the strong P. A. S. C. of Philadelphia, on the A. C. field, Bristol Pike, above the railroad station.

Miss Louise Lawrence, of Radcliffe street, passed the week-end visiting friends in New York.

Sixth Grade Pupils
Enjoy Hallowe'en Party

The pupils of the sixth grade of the Wood street school, taught by Miss Strimel, enjoyed a Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening. Harriet Green, who resides at 319 Walnut street, suggested her classmates hold the party in the barn at the rear of their property, which was an ideal place to hold a Hallowe'en party. The decorations were orange and black crepe paper streamers, pumpkin faces, black cats, etc.

About twenty-eight children were present and all were masked. Prizes were given to Julia Sagolla, for the fancy dress; Aaron Adams, for comic dress; Robert James, most original, being dressed as a Harlequin.

Various games were played during the evening, such as: Bob for the apple, duck walk, rolling beans with a straw, etc.

Each guest received a Hallowe'en paper napkin filled with cookies, apple, candy corn and peanuts for refreshments. The party started at 7 o'clock and at 9:30 all departed for their homes, after a most enjoyable time.

CONDEMNNS INTOXICANTS

Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, Minnesota, the internationally known surgeon and physician, in an interview on the outlook of human life the other day in Los Angeles declared that only the froth of society is really opposed to Prohibition in America, and that the great bulk of our population is quite satisfied with it. "Moreover," he said, "from the point of view in health there never has been any question but that abstinence from alcoholic drink proves extremely beneficial."

Water is the best drink there is, according to Dr. Mayo. That is provided it is good water which most municipalities now furnish their inhabitants. In Vienna, he said, the consumption of alcohol dropped off forty per cent upon the introduction of a good water supply.—American Issue.—(Adv.)

I had one weak spell after another; every morning found me tired, worn-out and lacking in energy."

"After a week of this new medicine Konjola, my liver and bowels were stimulated to normal action; my appetite began to return as digestion improved, and in three weeks the change that had come over me was remarkable. I am going ahead with Konjola, for it is building me up splendidly, and has made me feel better in every way."
